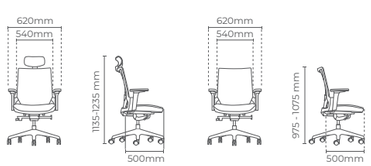
With Otis, there is more than meets the eye. Sustainable, eco-friendly design and gorgeous aesthetics come together with research-backed ergonomics.

Drawing its inspiration from modern material designs, Otis offers a woven multilayered nylon that is both responsive and supportive. Compared to traditional fabrics, it has more give and spring and as a result it provides an enhanced layer to the chair's already remarkable underlying moulded seating support surface.



OTIS

It may look like a simple chair, but it's anything but. Otis is optimised with features such as a full mesh back option for breathability, a waterfall-edge seat cushion to maintain regular levels of leg circulation and more comfort customisation than chairs that come at a much higher price point.

Melamine is a popular, budget friendly and durable material that is highly resistant to scratches. Melamine tops have a higher screw holding capacity and are preferred for furniture that can be assembled with screws. The material also has a high resistance to oils and mild acids and can withstand heat to a great extent as well. Melamine is also less prone to staining and relatively cheaper than stone or porcelain.

Porcelain tiles have an extremely low level of water absorption and are perfect fro spaces that occasionally get damp. They are harder, stronger, and more durable than any natural stone - even granite - and have superior chip resistance. Porcelain tiles are among the most hygienic building materials, completely free of moisture and inhospitable for the growth of bacteria of all kinds. With no surface glaze to wear through, the tile's appearance will stay the same for the life of the tile.
